DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 3 is rejected as being vague and indefinite because it is unclear what are the necessary maintenance requirements.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schwab (U.S. 5,973,731) in view of Sandifer (U.S. 5,987,474).

Schwab discloses a system and method for keeping a permanent record using a network substantially claimed including :

establishing a client system; (18)

establishing a server system; (13)

establishing a back-up system; ("The Internet server 13 (Web Site) and database are backed up. A RAID level 5 disk mirroring system 23 is used to provide redundant online swappable disk storage. The system will automatically switch to a mirrored back-up drive with no loss of service. The failed drive can be removed from the system and replaced with a functional drive without having the Internet network server 13 or database host computer experience downtime."; col.3, lines 60-) connecting said client system, said server system, and said back-up system; (col.3, lines 60-)

under the control of said client system, displaying a record form, and in response to data entered on said client system, completing data fields in said record form and sending said completed record form to said server system with a unique client identifier; (40)

under the control of said server system, receiving said record with said data and said unique client identifier, and storing said record in a segregated database keyed to said client identifier; (col.4, lines 27-66)

under the control of said back-up system, receiving said completed record form permanently stored in said server system, and making a permanent back-up so that a back-up of said segregated database is made, whereby said client system, said server system, said back-up system, and said means for connection are used to make and store permanent record in said server system that is accessible to said client system and backed up in said back-up system; ("Data elements are validated at entry, in real time, ensuring accurate data. Printouts of the same data are included for the patient's permanent record."; col.6, line 24-) wherein under the control of said client system, using said unique client identifier is required to gain access to records stored under the control of said server system in said segregated database keyed to said client identifier; (fig.3, web form, and database tables)

wherein under the control of said server system, providing search capabilities to said client system for searching of said segregated database; (Appendix A) wherein under the control of said server system, providing a tracking history of all record forms stored in said segregated database; (35)

wherein under the control of said client system providing a means for printing copies of record forms stored in said segregated database keyed to said client identifier; (68)

Schwab fails to teach the record is undeletable.

Sandifer, however, discloses that write protection is provided such that each inspection is permanently attached to each record so that it is unalterable (Sandifer –col.42, lines 51-60)

Both Schwab and Sandifer disclose methods concerned with keeping maintenance records. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to incorporate the write protection to provide permanent , unalterable record so that critical information is not tampered with or changed.
